

California Diabetes and Pregnancy Program

M0-07-0119 CDAPP

The California Diabetes and Pregnancy Program (CDAPP) provides comprehensive technical support and education to medical personnel and community liaisons to assist in promoting improved pregnancy outcomes for high-risk pregnant women with pre-existing diabetes and women who develop diabetes while pregnant; gestational diabetes mellitus (GDM). These medical providers who undergo standardized training and provide direct patient care to women with diabetes while pregnant become known as Sweet Success Affiliates.

Diabetes is a complication for up to 7-14% of pregnant women. The program's goal is to reduce maternal and infant morbidity and mortality for this high risk group to approximate the outcomes of the low-risk perinatal population. Established in 1983 as a part of the Regional Perinatal Programs of California (RPPC), it provides services throughout the state in 10 of the RPPC Programs. Funding is provided by Federal Title V MCH Block Grant Funds.
